

Corey Lamb takes out the Queensland Junior Amateur Title

In a very impressive fashion Branxton Golf Club member Corey Lamb locked in a wire-to-wire victory by five strokes.

Lamb, who also represents Concord in Sydney, continues the production line of Hunter Valley youngsters making their mark nationally, led by Australian No.2 Blake Windred.

Last year's Federal Open Amateur champ, Lamb blew the field away in the opening round and then made his 66 stand up with 69-74-69 to close to finish six under and comfortably clear of Queenslander Blake Perkins at one under in second place.

But it didn't start out as smooth sailing for Lamb who began his round very nervously on the 10th hole with a handy overnight buffer.

"Four shots is a nice lead but not huge so I knew I had to start well. But I got really lucky ... when my (opening) drive hit the rocks and bounced out of the water," said Lamb, who had just the one bogey, on the tough par-four 13th.

"(NSW junior teammate Harrison Crowe) made a good start, but when I birdied 11 and 16 I knew I just needed to be steady as the front nine plays a little easier.

"I'm really happy to get another win in Queensland, this time individually – maybe it's the weather that suits me!"
