Saturday's Stableford Competition proved to be a challenge to most golfers with only 30 pts needed to win a ball. Murray Kingston, playing in C Grade off his current (but not for long!) handicap of 20 must have been playing another course as he easily won C Grade with an amazing 43 pts. According to his playing partners he played steadily all day, but his new driver is adding some distance to his game—he certainly took advantage of that! Steve Eccles easily won A Grade with his 34 pts, an excellent effort in tough conditions. Toby Grant was runner up with 31 pts, with the evergreen Mick Tracey third with 30 pts—not often has he won a ball with 30 pts. Jeff Haywood had a great day out—as he was my playing partner, I had a bird's eye view. His 36 pts won him B Grade, a round which included a NTP on the 4th and the Pro's NTP on the last. 7 pts in the last 2 holes sealed his win. Brendan Clark was runner up with 35 pts, on a countback from the long hitting Tim Lane. Geoff Geason continued his good form to finish runner up in C Grade with his 36 pts, just ahead of Garry Taylor on the same score. Undoubtedly, the shot of the day belonged to Dean Fowler on the 17th—the shortened Par 4 now playing as a Par 3 with the wet fairway being rested for next week's Branxton Open. Dean had a hole in one on this hole—a 1 worth 6 points as the Par 4 rating still remains. Congratulations to Dean on a wonderful shot and a great memory to share with the grandkids!
