Saturday's par event proved a stern test for all golfers, with only four players from the field breaking their handicap. In A grade, the ever consistent Robert Biles won with a +2 score on a countback from Mark Moylan. An impressive score from Mark considering he is only just back playing after time off due to injury. Joe Bereza bounced back to form winning B grade with another score of +2, one ahead of Dave Hodges who was runner up for the second week in a row with +1. That's where the "plus" scores ended, showing how brutal the par event can be. Dean Clack had a steady -1 to take out C grade just ahead of Garry Taylor on -2. Neil Jordan carried his Par 3 championship form with him and took out two of the four NTP's, while Steve Eccles and Greg Tearle both hit great shots to inside one metre on the 2nd and 9th holes respectively. Robert "Shirl" Miller was the sharpshooter on the Pro NTP hole.
