The 2025 Club 2 Man Ambrose Championships were postponed on Saturday 24 May due to the course being unplayable due to the wet weather. This event has been rescheduled to Saturday 26 July 2025.

Sunday Competition

After a week of rain and minor flooding on the course, golf was back on Sunday. While the course is still wet in the usual areas after the flooding rain, it was certainly playable and 13 keen (some might say desperate) golfers got out early to tackle the conditions. There certainly was not much run on the fairways, but the greens remained tricky, and a good test of golf was on offer. With such a small field there was only one grade and Toronto visitor Ty Lewis had a great visit to Branxton, taking the win with 40 points off his 32 handicap. One of Ty's playing partners, Hugh Barrett hit a great pin high shot on the 9th to take the NTP with 140cm. David Kinch had a solid day out to come second with 36 points. Mick Barrett couldn't wait to get some golf in today and it paid off, as his 34 points was good enough for third on a countback from Steve Ross and Toby Grant. Thanks to all those who worked on the course during the week and on Saturday for getting it into a playable condition.

Carts will remain off the course until further notice. Work is currently underway to set the course up to allow carts back on the course, similar to what was put in place after the floods in August 2022. Once carts are back on the course, players using carts must follow the directions and conditions for cart use in order to protect the course as best as possible.
